THE THOUSAND INCARNATIONS OF THE ROSE

is a 3-day festival of American Primitive solo guitar and banjo music. Our audience of avid acoustic guitar fans and players will take note of who has stepped forward to sponsor such a unique and important event.

Every festival pass holder will receive a collectable magazine-style program with information about the event, the performers, and the supporters. The festival's website and social media will be online portals for attendees and others to learn about American Primitive music as well.

In addition, the schedule of events will be distributed widely to the general public, since one-third of the festival is open to all. We are working closely with local agencies and businesses so supporters like you will be acknowledged prominently on signage throughout the city of Takoma Park, one of the nation's most engaged and creative communities.
